

Davidson Chalmers Stewart is an independent, commercial law firm, focused on the needs of businesses across Scotland and beyond. Our expert teams provide clear, practical and commercial legal advice, helping our clients to achieve their business objectives and meet their aspirations.

Drawing on a diverse range of specialisms, we have a wealth of experience in supporting rural businesses to adapt and grow.

What sets our rural business team apart is our on the ground knowledge of the rural sector and day-to-day operations and challenges of running rural business, in both the traditional sense of agriculture, but also diversification.

With a number of members of the team having either lived on working farms with operational diversifications or been involved in rural communities for many years, we have an innate understanding of the sector.

Our legal teams combine expertise, experience and efficiency to deliver specialist advice on an extensive range of rural business matters including:

- + Business Diversification
- + Partnerships
- + Regulatory
- + Dispute Resolution
- + Planning
- + Property Development
- + Corporate
- + Family Agreements & Succession
- + Joint Ventures
- + Renewable Energy
- + Funding
- + Environmental
- + Construction
- + Commercial Contracts
